NEW TIGER STAFF ANNOUNCED

SOPH. DANCE FOR FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8

Rudy Brown's Orchestra to Dispense Harmony

The date has been set and that date is not far off. First it was to have been pulled on December 26, but due to the early dismissal of the corps of cadets, it was necessary to postpone the "big spree". January 11 was then set as the night of the Sophomore Dance, but the quarantine that was placed on the school forced further postponement. This quarantine will soon be raised; and, to celebrate the emancipation, February 8 has been named as the date of "the red letter event on Tigertown's social calendar", the Sophomore Hop.

This annual dance has always been recognized as one of the most elaborate affairs of Clemson's social life; this year's "shag" promises to be no exception, despite the fact that it will not be at Yuletide as is the custom. The Sophomores have not been discouraged by the ill luck that they have encountered at the previous dates, and they promise a dance that will long be remembered as an affair enjoyed by all.

Rudy Brown and his eleven-piece orchestra have been secured as the harmony dispensers for the occasion. They have performed once at Clemson this year and have proven their ability and willingness to foot the tunes that the cadets enjoy. From the number of feminine names already appearing on the list, it is evident that the "chief attraction" will be present by the score. So don't forget Friday night, February 8.

The dance list is in room 175; invitations may be obtained in rooms 516 and 175.

SOPHOMORE ELECTION RESULTS ANNOUNCED

Nat Watson Leads Class

At a recent meeting of the Sophomore class, the following officers were elected: Nat Watson, President; Jimmy Dyess, Vice-President; Johnny Justus, Secretary-Treasurer; and Frank Crymes, Historian.

The Freshman class also had a meeting for the purpose of electing officers. The following were chosen: Ben Pickens, President; W. W. Friday, Vice-President; H. G. Montgomery, Secretary-Treasurer; and E. R. Kelly, Historian.

All of these officers for the two classes are well known and are sure to be efficient as well as popular officers. The Sophomores and "Rats" are to be congratulated on their selections.

APPOINTMENTS MADE IN CORPS OF CADETS

Although it is customary to make nearly all of the appointments in the Corps of Cadets at the end of the scholastic year, the necessity arises throughout the year for making additional appointments to fill vacancies caused by the withdrawal of cadet officers and non-commissioned officers. As is the custom in making all appointments, these men receive their promotions upon several considerations; the recommendation of Senior cadet officers their scholastic records, their military bearing, and the approval of the President and the Commandant.

On January 22 the following promotions and appointments in the Corps of Cadets were announced.

First Lieut. E. E. Higgins appointed Executive Officer, Company "K".

To be First Lieutenant—Second Lieutenant, J. J. McLeskey.

To be Second Lieutenants—H. W. Cunningham, W. P. Tiencken.

To be Master Sergeant (Regimental Supply Sergeant)—Sergeant F. S. Rush.

To be First Sergeant—Sergeant H. W. Dorset.

To be Sergeants—J. R. Atkinson, R. S. Howard, J. E. Tillitson, L. C. Chamblee, D. C. Carter, M. E. Gasaway.

To be Corporals—G. J. Pugh, J. E. Bennett, H. R. Riddlehuber, M. L. Long, E. W. Stroud, H. D. Fold, H. C. Booth, B. H. Breeland, R. W. Clement, H. W. Dill, H. J. Kizer, A. R. Crawford, J. E. Turner, J. M. Smith, D. H. Rogers, F. Stanton, W. T. Bennett, T. W. Henderson, W. J. Martin, J. O. Rowell, C. W. Harrell, F. W. Cannon, W. J. Garter, R. H. McGee, H. D. Epuknight, S. H. Booth, H. J. Dowdle.

QUESTION MARK FLIES OVER CLEMSON CAMPUS

The U. S. army plane "Question Mark" which established a new endurance record of over a hundred continuous hours in recent tests held in California, passed over the campus last Friday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock.

No one guessed that the giant plane which was seen approaching in the distance was the famed "Question Mark," but a closer view assured those who gazed upon her that it was the record breaking plane. The sight afforded many an unexpected and genuine pleasure. After passing directly over head, the plane disappeared into the east.

H. W. DORSET IS FUTURE EDITOR; A. R. RAMSEUR IS BUSINESS MANAGER

New Staff to Begin Work With Next Issue of The Tiger

A plan was adopted last year whereby the staff of the "Tiger" should be changed at the beginning of the second semester instead of later in the year as has been the custom for many years. This will give the seniors more time to apply to their studies the last semester during their college career and at the same time the old staff can act as council for the new staff in case they run into difficulties.

The new staff headed by H. W. Dorset as editor and A. R. Ramseur as business manager will come into office at the publication of this issue. Dorset, of Ridge Springs, S. C. has been connected with the Tiger for the past year and during that time he has shown his ability as a writer being one of the main stays among the reporters. Dorset is very popular among the members of his class and has the ability of making friends with all those he comes in contact with, this quality connected with his ability as a writer makes him exceptionally well suited for the position he is to hold during the coming year.

As senior associate editors L. T. Leitner and G. W. Sackman have been selected to assist Dorset in the publication of the "Tiger". Both of these men have done creditable work during the year, Leitner as Clubs Editor and Sackman as Feature Editor. Both of these men come highly recommended by the English Department, and this recommendation connected with their willingness to work, assures them a place of honor on the staff.

Athletics is one of the most important items in the make up of the Tiger, and to F. S. Rush falls the job of presenting this phase of our college life to our readers. This is one of the most difficult positions to fill as the editor must be versed in all athletics and at the same time be able to express himself in a way that will please the sports readers, he must keep up with all the sports of the country and present a broad-minded synopsis of what is happening in the sporting field. Rush has served as associate athletic editor and on several occasions has turned out work that would do credit to some of the big newspaper sport writers.

As associate athletic editors J. G. Adams and A. R. Crawford have been chosen. Adams has been on the staff for the past two years and during that time he has been connected, more or less, with the athletic department. Crawford comes highly recommended by his instructor.

URGE R. O. T. C. SENIORS TO KEEP CONTACT IN NATIONAL RESERVES

Special Inducement Offered to Class of '29

It has been found that the college R. O. T. C. graduates have a tendency to lose interest in the military side of their lives soon after they graduate. The War Department is very anxious to keep every Reserve Officer in contact with that branch of the service through his eligibility period if it is in any way possible. A Reserve Officer's magazine is published to keep the members in touch with what the Reserve Officers' Association is doing and this magazine is available to all graduating R. O. T. C. Seniors who are eligible for commissions.

The National Reserve Officers' Association is maintained in order to create a life interest in one of the nation's greatest opportunities and it is continually striving to better its members conditions as well as to promote the Nation's Peace Plan. The Reserve Officer plays a very important part in determining the strength of the future National Defense and he should know what his co-partners are doing from day to day.

The Clemson class of 1929 has been given a special inducement to affiliate with the organization. Dr. L. E. Dillinger of Greenville, a Lieutenant of the Dental Reserve, who is president of the South Carolina department, has given each graduating Senior an excellent opportunity to join at the reasonable rate of $1.00 which is the body's annual dues.

The R. O. A. should include all Reserve Officers in order for it to be a truly live organization. Lieutenant Johnson and Cadet "Dink" Woodward, who are already members of the organization, with the help of Cadet Major Ciyburn, will explain further benefits and details at the next meeting of the Senior Class. It is hoped that after that meeting all graduating eligible Seniors will spare the small sum of one dollar and make the South Carolina department the best one in the Fourth Corps Area.

Our instructor

Who art in the class room,
Hallowed by thy fame;
Thy system come, thy precept done,
In college as it is at Clemson;
Give us this day our daily lessons,
Forgive us our foolish questions,
As we forgive those who ask
Foolish questions among us.
Lead us not into delusions,
Deliver us from long-winded explanations;
For thine is the rostrum, the chalk,
And the blackboard,
Forever and ever,
And then.

PADGETT IS WINNER OF JACOBS TROPHY

Bob McCarley a Close Third

According to a canvass of Carolina sports writers and officials, O. D. Padgett, captain-elect of the 1929 Yellow Peril, was selected to receive the Jacob's trophy as the best interfeer and most valuable man in state football during the past season. Previous to the newspaper announcements of his selection, Padgett had been elected captain by his teammates.

The merits upon which this award is given were based on O. D.'s factual interferences. In all the games his blocking and tackling paved the way for subsequent touchdowns. Waiting and eager tacklers were smothered by his offensive tactics. His charging rushes carried his man out of the play. He always "got his man." On several occasions his value as a sure receiver of passes tallied touchdowns for Clemson. Rarely was he in the limelight, but his brilliant playing did not escape the attention it deserved. Not only did his prowess attract the eyes of the cadets and the football world, but also his performance on the gridiron, although usually hidden under onslaughts of players and dust, even thrilled those unfamiliar with the rudiments of the game. He was described as "the blocking back in South Carolina." That could include North Carolina, as statistics prove.

Padgett received four and one-half of the votes submitted by sports authorities over the state. Wimberly of Carolina was runner-up, having three and one-half, with Bob McCarley getting three.

During the 1928 season, William P. Jacobs of Clinton, announced an award in recognition of the interfeer in the fall sport. Mr. Jacobs has done much for South Carolina football since his own playing days 15 years ago. This trophy will have much to do in perfecting football offense in this state. Each year judges will select the man fulfilling best the requirements of interference, tackling, and value to team.

This year O. D. Padgett satisfied all these essentials.

The trophy, a fitting statue of an "interfeer" wrought in silver, and an engraved gold medal will be presented formally to O. D. Padgett next Friday at the Rotary Club luncheon in Clinton. Examinations prevented this presentation on Friday, January 25. Wimberly, college coaches and judges are among those expected to attend. A special program for the occasion has been planned to honor the winner.

EDITORIAL

As the time arrives for the old "Tiger" staff to turn over its responsibilities to the new staff, who shall have the destiny of the Tiger in its care for the coming year, we look back and review some of the things which have taken place during our term of office.

In an early issue we mentioned the fact that if certain things could take place in this atheletic world of ours this staff would have the distinction of announcing results that no other Tiger staff has had for several years. And now, we are proud that at the conclusion of our term of office we can add another and concluding installment to the first article, which appeared in the May 9th issue of last year.

We took charge of the "Tiger" the middle of last April and since that time we have been able to announce, thru these columns, state championships in track and baseball. We had hoped to extend this to football, but at the last minute our hopes were blasted by the biggest upset of the season when the Tigers went down in defeat before the Bulldogs of the Citadel. And as a result of this game, and defeat, the best that could be saved from the wreckage was a tie with Wofford for the state championship. This may not sound so encouraging to an outsider, but to men who have lived at Clemson as a true and loyal Tiger for the past four years and seen the Tiger beaten on the gridiron, but never in spirit, for three of these years it was indeed a glorious year. We had lived for this day—the day when the Tiger should come back and offer a resistance that could be overcome by none of its opponents, this was very nearly achieved as the Tiger met defeat only three times during the year—and you must remember that the Tiger had eleven games on the '28 schedule, some of which were with the strongest teams of the Southern Conference.

But this is not the height of the Clemson Tigers' fame. They are truly on the up grade, and may the new "Tiger" staff have the honor of placing the Tiger at the head of the '29 Southern Conference—where it should rightfully be.

For the past five and a half school months we have worked with the "Tiger", doing all in our power to give our readers a paper that would be a credit to Clemson and ourselves. At times we have become discouraged with the results of our efforts, ready to throw the towel in the ring and withdraw completely defeated, but there must be a Tiger for our readers each week and we have buckled down doing the best we could. We realize our faults and imperfections in the journalism field, and we have looked forward to the day when we could turn our work over to one more suited in this line. But now that the time is here it is with regret that we sever our relations, knowing that no more shall we be called upon to satisfy our readers. Now we are among the readers and not the producers, but we shall read with an interest more intense than the others—it was once ours.

In conclusion we wish to thank all those who have at various times during the year given us assistance without which we could not have done as well as we have. And we hope that in the future this same spirit of cooperation will prevail.

And to the new staff we wish all the success for a bigger and better "Tiger" in the coming year.

Vesper Service

The Y. M. C. A. vesper service last Sunday night was conducted by Rev. Capers Satterlee of the Episcopal church. Rev. Satterlee's topic was "The Power of Christianity in the future."

There will be no Christianity that will have the effect of goodness which Christ desires unless it becomes unified. For Christianity to become unified there must be on the part of us Christians now and a deeper broadmindedness. The definition of broadmindedness as given by Rev. Satterlee is "Tolerance of other people's expression and the strength of your convictions." Broadmindedness is also the ability to distinguish between the essential and the non-essential. We must labor for the future which God desires. And to work together we must come together and so come together we must be broadminded.

A great heritage has come to us, the heritage of freedom of speech, the freedom of mind, and the freedom of religion. But with the good there has also come the bad, narrowmindedness and poor spirit. The religion of Jesus is communion with God. The essential things in Christianity are only those things which make us more like Christ. As we come together so will Christianity come together and unify.

South Carolina Convention Held in Columbia

The South Carolina Convention of Y. M. C. A.'s met in Columbia on Tuesday, January 15th. Reports indicated considerable advancement over the previous year in the growth in service and financial betterment. T. B. Lanham, State Secretary, presented an illuminating report of activity accomplishment.

Suitable memorial to the late D. B. Johnson, chairman of the State Committee and President of Winthrop College, was adopted. Dr. Johnson had been chairman of the State Committee since its organization in 1919 when North Carolina and South Carolina separated from what was then known as the Interstate convention.

F. L. Wilcox, prominent lawyer of Florence, was selected to fill the post vacated by the death of Dr. Johnson. Under his able leadership it is confidently expected that the work of the Committee will continue to advance in a marked way.

Cadet C. W. Stroman, President of the Clemson Association represented the local Y. at the Convention.

"All who joy would win must win Must share it. Happiness was born a twin."—Byron

RELIGION CONQUERS UNRULY INSTINCTS

Church Turns High-Strung Emotions Into Useful Channels, Says Coffin

"Life is constantly bringing us mettlesome horses in the instincts that we inherit from our ancestors and bidding us to ride them", Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, president of Union Theological Seminary, said in a recent address.

"Every baby that is born", he said, "must face a fight within itself against emotions that developed in savage forbears, as well as the facts of a complex outer world."

"Sanitariums and prisons are filled with those who let these horses run away with them, while our leaders, our scientists, our educators are men who controlled them. The power of religion is the force that holds unruly instincts in place and makes them a means of accomplishment of high ends."

People without the fire or emotions blazing within them are useless to the world, Dr. Coffin asserted. He mentioned Bismark as an example of a leader of high-strung temperament who developed this in to the power to do great things.

"Methods of forcing knowledge upon reluctant youth have castly improved, but not the methods for controlling passions", he continued. "How many young men know how to handle the power they have for common good, and how many nations can be depended upon to work for the common weal?"

Wilme—Oh, goodness, Phil, the lights have all gone out, and we haven't a match in the house.

Phil—And my cigarette lighter ain't working—thank goodness.

Husband—Jones says the day he married his wife he gave her the key to his heart.

Wife—Yes, and then he went off and had the lock changed.

Jim—I can spell 'bum' with two letters.

Joe—Let me hear you.

Jim—B-m, bum.

Joe—That doesn't spell bum.

Jim—Oh yes! I forgot and left you out.

American Tourist—Do you think it is healthy to keep your cattle in the house?

French Farmer— Well, I don't know, but I've been keeping my cows there for fourteen years and I aint never lost one of them yet.

"Son, your manners are awful! I noticed that you dusted the chair at Mrs. Heep's before you sat down. And their little boy was watching you, too."

"Yes, and I was watching him, too. I am too old a fish to be caught on a bent pin!"

The old lady was looking for something to grumble about. She entered the butcher's shop with the light of battle in her eyes.

"I believe you sell diseased meat here!"

"Worse," replied the butcher blandly.

"What do you mean, worse?" demanded the astonished patron.

"The meat we serve is dead!" confided the butcher in a stage whisper.

Gentlemen:

Replying to your circular letter of June 29, be informed that your sample packages were received. With them I received the pamphlet describing your product, which I was able to enjoy reading because there was not in the circular matter the usual distasteful sales talk which makes the recipient of a sample package feel obligated or uncomfortable.

I believe your practice of giving your prospect a sample and then letting him make up his own mind will gain you many more customers than will the usual modern sales practice of pushing the product down the prospect's throat. As a matter of fact, since receiving your sample and your advertising matter I smoked up the sample package and have since purchased a number of cans from neighborhood dealers, all of whom carry this tobacco in a city of this size.

I have found Edgeworth to be a satisfactory blend at a very reasonable price, and although my past acquaintance is brief, I look forward to a long membership in the Edgeworth Club.

Yours very truly,

Jeff Corydon

ors and should fit easily into the machine.

For feature editor, D. C. Hudgens has been selected. He is a new man on the staff but is fully capable of filling this position; this is clearly shown by the work he has turned into his English instructors. J. A. Wilson is to fill the chair of the Exchange Editor. His good work on the staff has shown that he is well suited for this position. C. E. Jarard was chosen society editor, and it will be for him to see that all dances and other social functions of the campus are properly reported. For Clubs Editor C. E. Crutchfield was elected, his duties are to see that all club meetings are written up for publication. C. V. Reniz was chosen as Y. M. C. A. Editor and his work will be to cover all "Y" news for the Tiger. The Joke Department is to be headed by R. G. Hodges as editor with R. S. Owens and J. A. Long as his assistants.

This year there has been a change made in one department of the paper, instead of having a Chairman of the Reporters Club, which has been changed to Assignment Editor. It will be his duty to scout out all news that tries to slip by the staff and assign articles to the several reporters. D. C. Turrentine has the distinction of being the first man to fill this position and he is well fitted to play the detective act for the reporters. The staff reporters who will be under the direct supervision of the Editor in conjunction with the assignment editor are H. A. Ripplemeyer, J. A. Stevens, R. F. Palmer, G. H. Epting, W. G. Day, T. S. Heywood, J. B. Ouzts and E. B. White. All of these men come highly recommended and have all the earmarks of making good reporters.

The business and finances will be entrusted to A. R. Ramseur, who has had experience in this line as assistant to the past Business Manager. As his assistant F. H. Crymes has been selected.

T. R. Wannamaker, who is a junior this year, has filled the position of Circulation Manager in the absence of the senior member in that department. He has been selected to carry on this work with W. F. Hughes as his senior associate and R. H. McGee and T. H. Fagg as the assistant managers.

DO YOU WANT TO BE COUNTED?

Then Step out from the Crowd
Our American Union is today by far the wealthiest and the most prosperous nation on earth. Its wage-earning classes receive higher wages and enjoy more daily comforts and more educational privileges than any other wage-earners in all human history. Our high schools and colleges are turning out more graduates every year than their total enrollment of twenty years ago. If these men and women so carefully and expensively "educated" were genuine Leaders, were high-minded, right-minded, far-seeing, influential molders and managers of their swarming millions of uneducated fellow-citizens, the American Republic of today would be the happiest, the most contented, and the most harmonious nation ever known on earth. But, Alas! for lack of such effective leadership it is cursed with a nation-wide epidemic of rebellion against law and order, of out-breaking crimes of violence, and of a general breakdown of our whole system of crime-prevention, with its costly courts and jails and penitentiaries. Never was genuine American Leadership, political, social, moral, industrial, so sorely needed as in this whirlwind era of American lawlessness, disintegration, and reconstruction.

Your First Step toward Leadership.

A real leader is always ahead of his age, of his companions, and of his environment. He always pushes the boat against the current; is always aggressive, progressive, and independent. A real leader always attempts to swing the crowd his way. The fake leader, so fatally common in a democracy like ours, ascertains the general opinion and direction of the crowd; then runs ahead of them and calls them to follow him on this glorious road.

To seek "popularity" as the highest attainable good, to float always with the current of public opinion, to be the typical "frat-man", the ideal "lodge-man", the zealous "joiner", to agree always with the bunch and never fight anybody—this may be a flower-strewn path of ease and pleasure and frictionless friendship. It is never the road to personal power, to civic usefulness, or to genuine constructive leadership.

Your first step toward real leadership is to rebel against group-slavery, to rank loyally to principle ahead of local and inherited partisanship, to become a self-confident expert on certain important problems at issue, and then—to swing the crowd your way. If, in your school and college days, you lose your individualism and become a zealous and habitual crowd-follower, rest assured that you'll never in later life reach genuine, effective, American leadership.

A Campus Epidemic.

Obedient and zealous group-slavery is a campus epidemic in present-day America. Form the habit, therefore, of resisting this ever-present infection. "Step out from the crowd" whenever the gang goes wrong. As you are so soon to leave this training harbor for the stormy sea of life see that you build yourself into a high-powered steamboat rather than a floating tow-boat. As group-slavery is a contagious epidemic, make a specialty of cultivating your Individualism during this formative period of adolescence, whatever effect such courageous independence may have on your immediate "popularity".

Cultivate Personal Independence and Personal Steam-power

Here are a half-dozen ways of conquering your tow-boat inclinations and making of yourself a self-propelled steam-engine able to conquer head winds of opposing currents.

1. Make a daily habit of controlling your bodily appetites and daily health-habits. Resolutely eat the right kinds of food in the right way, and at the right times. Resolutely attend to your daily habits of personal cleanliness, regular exercise, and regular evacuation. If you win this rare and priceless self-control, you are already far on the road toward bodily vigor and genuine leadership.

2. When your class or social set or the whole student-body is loudly condemning some action or decision or discipline of the faculty, and you know in your heart that they are wrong and the faculty is right, be man enough, whenever this happens, to break the chains of group-slavery and stand apart from the crowd.

3. When your social set decides on an action you know to be wrong and all are whooping it up with unanimous acclaim, be man enough to stand apart and refuse even if you stand alone.

4. Every now and then a big dance or a big football rally or a big home game makes all the crowd-followers go to class next morning unprepared. At that particular recitation, so depressing to a zealous professor, see to it that you shine with an A grade. Such an investment at whatever cost of self-denial pays big dividends in both leadership and reputation.

5. When a dreaded exam-period is approaching and the tow-boats are all trusting to strong coffee and all night grinds or to mere good luck and childish hopefulness, be steam-engine enough to carry on your daily grind long before the testing-time arrives. Then carry to the exam-room, when the test begins, an unfatigued body, a cool self-confidence born of thorough preparation, and a fighting-courage that scorns nerves and fear and every symptom of panic.

6. If you find any one of your courses specially dry and hard and hateful, recognize this study as your special foe. Summon your fighting spirit and conquer this hated enemy. Such a triumph over such a hateful "course" will be worth more in educating you for future success on life's competitive battlefield than any other part of your scholastic training.

Any and every tow-boat can travel with the current of personal interest. It takes a genuine steam-boat to conquer head winds and opposing currents. Use and prove your steam-power by conquering the tasks you hate.

The "Triumph" and "Defiance"

Where do young college men get in a large industrial organization? Have they opportunity to exercise creative talent? Is individual work recognized?

K EEN-VISAGED seamen who watch the foam swirl in the wake of the "Triumph" and "Defiance," U. S. Shipping Board vessels, see in these ships something more than cargo-carriers. These staunch boats are emblems of American enterprise on the high seas.

To gain economy in their competition with foreign-owned marine units these ships were recently converted from steam to Diesel-Electric drive—the highest powered Diesel-Electric ship installations thus far developed. Directelectricpropulsion of 4000 hp. at a propeller speed of 60 rpm. was provided, and the auxiliary equipment was also electrified. An important by-product of the conversion was a valuable increase in the total available cargo-carrying space.

The big jobs go to organizations with the resources and facilities to handle them. Westinghouse attracts young men of enterprise and genius because it daily provides interesting opportunities such as smaller concerns can seldom offer.

The huge propulsion motors of the "Triumph" and "Defiance" are of the doublearmature type designed to maintain high efficiency at low propeller speeds. The installations include electric motors for blowers, windlass, oil and water pumps, and warping winches—a complete modern marine electrification by Westinghouse.

SPRING FOOTBALL STARTS

SPORTS

SPORTS

BY MITCHELL

Once again the hills around Tigertown echo with the sounds of heavily booted footballs. Spring practice was called yesterday, and from the number that reported for practice it seems that next year will be the Tiger year. There are at least twenty backs out and the linesmen look like a young army. A great many of these men have already had experience either on the varsity or the freshman elevens, and it won't take them long to get underway for some real football. Most of the men are in pretty fair condition now and with the cool weather that we are having now the strain of getting fit won't be so great.

There are some of the old timers missing, but they have carved their niches in Carolina football and now they have to step aside for the pigskin warriors of '29.

The Tiger basketball team seemed to have hit their stride in the last few games. Their passing looks mighty good and several of the boys are getting their eye on the basket pretty regular, so it looks as if the squad is going to have a mighty good season after all.

The boxing team under Coach Guyon is getting in great shape to whip the soxs off of some of the other conference pugilists. This is the first year that Clemson has made a big effort to turn out a boxing team, and it seems that this year will be crowned with success. There are some mighty husky lads out and from the way that they mix it up in training it looks pretty bad for the other fellow when the real scraps start. Those who witness the scheduled bouts this year can be assured of seeing some scientific fighting, as Coach Guyon is making it plain that boxing is not all in slugging.

The bout with P. C. scheduled for next Wednesday night has been called off on account of the flu at P. C. The next bouts will be with Florida here.

The main topic of conversation in the sporting world now seems to be the Sharkey-Stribling fight, scheduled for Miami on February 27. Jack Dempsey, promoter of the fight, has gone to the expense of building an arena to seat fifty thousand persons. Stribling seems to have most of the money on his side so far, but that is not saying by a long shot that he will be the winner. It is just that he looks better than Sharkey at the present. Neither Stribling nor Sharkey were rated better than second raters as long as Tunney and Dempsey were in the fight game. Tunney's second defeat of Dempsey and his subsequent withdrawal left the field open, whereupon both Stribling and Sharkey got busy. The victor of this get-together will probably be matched with either Tom Heeney or Paulino Uzcudum for the heavyweight crown, unless Dempsey decides to try a comeback. Dempsey, in spite of his defeat, is just about the biggest drawing card in the fistic world yet.

Captain Vincent has asked that all men wishing to try out for the swimming team report to the "Y" pool between 4:30 and 5:30 in the afternoon.

CLEMSON BASKETEERS
WIN FROM NEWBERRY
INDIANS AND WOFFORD

The Clemson basketball team have reached the near peak of their game during the week just passed. Last Thursday night the Tigers took the Newberry Indians, fresh from a victory over Furman, into tow by the score 24 to 17. Captain O'Dell, Thomas, and Crain were flashes of destruction at every moment of the game, while Rushe starred for the visitors.

Then came Friday—Wofford—final score Clemson 50, Wofford 14. It was a wow of a game. The purple clad boys were running wild, they shot baskets from every conceivable angle of the court, the Tigers guarded their own goal in turn as if their lives depended on it. Toward the latter part of the game Coach Cody sent in his last five substitutes in a body. But these youngsters let the Terriers off none the lighter—they ran the score up to fifty points and Wofford was never able to score on them. Or to summarize the game it would be easier to say that the entire squad played the best game of the year and it was a mighty fine exhibition of basketball.

Cody has the material—they have shown the whole world that they are capable. Look our Southern Conference championship!

TIGERS DOWN P. C.
IN FAST GAME 32-26

For the third straight time in the past week the Clemson Tigers were returned victors. Last night the mighty P. C. Blue Stockings were humbled, 32 to 26—a veritable purple storm of leather. The Clemson basketball team led in the scoring all the way, but Coach Walter Johnson's proteges came within inches of wresting the lead from them in the last few minutes of play by a thrilling comeback. It fell short, however, and Clemson was still in the lead when the final whistle blew.

The game started similar to the opening of an old maids convention but it didn't take long for both teams to snap out of this trance—then it was nip and tuck affair for the remainder of the mad melee. Hewitt was the bright star for the Tigers, scoring 12 points and making his shots from every angle of the court.

Clemson plays at Newberry tonight, meets Auburn here Friday night, and tackles Furman at Greenville Saturday night.

SCHUBERT QUARTET
HERE NEXT THURSDAY

Violins and Piano Add to Program

On Thursday evening, February 7, at seven o'clock in the chapel, the Schubert Male Quartet will give a concert of selections from the works of the immortal composer, Franz Schubert. It is peculiarly fitting that this quartet should be here to present the selections on this, the one hundredth anniversary of the death of this famous master of song. Schubert, during his short lifetime produced operas, symphonies, sonatas, overtures, cantatas and melodious songs known the world over. 170,000 people gathered in Vienna in the past few months to honor the immortal master by singing his songs. This was the largest group of persons who ever sang at one time.

The Schubert Quartet was organized some four years ago, and since that time has made three transcontinental tours.

The quartet consists of Mr. George Q. Miner, basso and director; Mr. Harry Cole, lyric tenor; Mr. Erwin Dillon, dramatic tenor and violinist, and Mr. Charles Pottier, baritone. Miss Aileen Russell presides at the piano.

One of the many features of the program will be the costumed musical picture taken from the life and works of Schubert. The violin and piano features add much to the charming fascination of the program.

WEEK-END LEAVES SUSPENDED TEMPORARILY

On account of the prevalent influenza epidemic, Dr. Milford, the college surgeon, has recommended that the week-end permits be temporarily suspended. In a general order published last week, this recommendation was carried out—the week-end leaves being suspended until further notice.

As yet no notice has been given, but special permits were granted quite freely for the past week-end. Unless an unusual amount of sickness results from this, it is almost certain that the regular week-end permits will be granted this week-end.

CHANGES IN OFFICE OF THE COMMANDANT

Old man DETAIL has swept thru the military department and shifted some of his beloved offspring into new thrones and still not satisfied, he added a new child to his family. The changes left in his wake gives the commandant's office the appearance of a remodeled home.

A couple of weeks ago this famous old fellow flew over Fort Mc-Pherson, Georgia, and hooked Sergeant Harry W. Stacy of the detailed enlisted men's list, by the belt, while he was reporting the headquarters company of the twenty-second infantry to his captain, and dropped him right in the middle of the Clemson campus. Sergeant Stacy has worn "Cacky" for nearly fifteen years in such foreign countries as Georgia, Arizona, Colorado, Pennsylvania and other places in this "Divided States" but he didn't kill any Huns as he taught other fellows how to do that—he was so good at the art.

Then this old gentleman snatched Lieutenant Johnson out of the adjutant's seat and dropped him on the rifle range and told him to stay there until June and then snapped out, "You go teach those Juniors how to run a machine gun and still keep it cool and act as a father for the third battalion."

Still not satisfied he slid the adjutant's throne under Captain Jeffries and read General Order No. 2 to him which cried, "Notice—You go teach those 'Greenmen' and 'Suffermores' the elements of Military science and act as tactical officers for the band and bugle corps."

This week Kid Rumor stole from ear to ear of the cadets whispering to them that Lieutenants Balcar and Johnson had been promoted to captains. But both of the officers swear that the little devil is a liar, but that they expected to give the infant a boost into the bell tower in a month or so and let him yell the glad news to his heart's content.
